

WADER CONSERVATION WORLD WATCH

6TH & 7TH November 2021

INFORMATION PACK

Welcome to the WCWW information pack for 2021.

Once again WCWW will take place to celebrate the anniversary of Wader Quest's first day in the field; 1st November 2012.

Each year we ask people to join our world wader watch to show their awareness of the problems the world's waders are facing. At the same time they will be acknowledging the effort put in by waderologists, both professional and volunteer alike across the planet, who are dedicating their time and talents to helping reduce some of the effects we, as humans, are having on these wonderful birds. Remember: Caring is the first step to conservation.

We have deliberately kept the concept simple:

- Go out and look for waders, or shorebirds if you prefer.
- Make a note of what you see (count them if you wish).
- Either: share your eBird list from those days with our WaderQuestTeam account
- Or: send an email to wcww@waderquest.net telling us what you saw, where, and with whom; feel free to send any photos you have taken of the birds or your friends with your sightings too.

Don't forget, if you wish you can also submit your lists to BirdTrack and your local bird recorders to make your efforts even more valuable. If Birding in Brazil, why not add your photos to wikiaves, a fantastic collection of bird images of Brazilian birds.

If you are part of a group of local birders why not get your friends involved? If you are part of an organisation, be it a bird club, or business please feel free to send along a logo to add to the panel of participating organisations on the website, and in the resulting newsletter.

For our part we will:

- Reply personally to all emails and contributions sent to us.
- Collect and collate all the wader/shorebird sightings from around the world.
- Create a collective world list of species seen.
- Create a Roll of Honour naming all the participants for which names are provided, or numbers of participants where names have not been supplied.
- Create a Newsletter Special with all the results and some reports from contributors, a map of the locations and as many photos as we can include from contributors the world over.

We did really well last year and if everyone recruited one more observer,
we'd do twice as well!

Let's make a noise for waders around the world, give them a voice by standing up to say 'I Care!'

Remember:

Caring is the first step to conservation.
